To Protect Japs

YOKOHAMA (AP)—The U.S. Army today cracked down on American soldiers who mistreat Japanese civilians and threatened severe measures to halt serious crimes. There were isolated "but very serious" crimes to be reckoned with, and "bullying" actions of soldiers toward the Japanese would not be tolerated, an official said.

Want Strike Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harvey Murphy, western regional director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, today said he hoped a commissioner may soon be appointed to investigate the strike of foundry and pattern shop workers in Vancouver.

Vancouver Greeted Governor-General

VANCOUVER (UP)—The 19th Coast Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, fired a 19-gun salute as the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, stepped from a Canadian Pacific Railway train in Vancouver today.

Accompanied by Lady Alexander and their children, the Governor-General was driven directly to Victory Square, where he was greeted by a guard of honor and laid a wreath at the Cenotaph.

The guard of honor included 50 men from No. 11 District Depot in Vancouver and 50 from the headquarters of fixed defenses at Esquimalt.

During his inspection of the guard, Viscount Alexander stopped a number of times to speak with men who had served under him in north Africa and Italy.

The party was driven from the Cenotaph to Vancouver's city hall for an official civic reception.

At 2 p.m. Viscount Alexander opened the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society Games at Hastings Park.

Muzz Patrick New St. Paul Coach

Patrick, who is spending the summer in Victoria along with his wife and family, succeeds Larry Aurie. Muzz said he would leave for St. Paul in September to make plans for the fall training camp.

The minor league, which comprises eight clubs, will open the season early in October.

Keep Pressmen Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pressroom employees of the strike-bound Vancouver Daily Province were turned back today by International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) pickets when they attempted to return to work.

The pressmen, ordered by their union to return to work, arrived at the newspaper office, but made no attempt to force their way through the strong picket line.

France Celebrates

Dominion Offer Illegal, Says Senator McGeer

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator G. G. McGeer, Lib., British Columbia, in a memorandum to Premier John Hart of British Columbia released today, claims the Dominion Government lacks the constitutional authority to carry out the agreements with the provinces proposed by Finance Minister Flisley in his recent budget speech.

(The Finance Minister proposed substantial grants from the Dominion to the provinces in return for the provinces waiving such direct taxation fields as the income and corporation taxes and succession duties. It left the provinces free to accept or reject the proposals.)

The barrister-senator contends the Dominion has not the right under the British North America Act to levy taxes within the province and give it back to the provinces for provincial purposes. The Dominion can tax only for Dominion purposes, he says.

POWER OF PROVINCES

To carry out the provisions of the proposed agreements, the national Parliament must have direct and indirect taxation for "provincial purposes." As the constitution now stands, the power to raise revenue within a province by "direct taxation for provincial purposes" is the exclusive jurisdiction of the Legislature of each province.

The jurisdiction of the Dominion cannot be extended by the provincial Legislatures "by agreement or otherwise," says the senator.

The Legislature cannot "rent" its constitutional power to the Dominion once the Dominion government loses its war emergency powers.

Senator McGeer says emergency powers were exercised in wartime in regard to direct taxation, but emergency powers used in wartime do not become constitutional rights in times of peace.

Premier John Hart stated today he had not received any letter from Senator McGeer, and consequently had no comment to make on Mr. McGeer's statement in Ottawa.

He said, however, he now was studying the proposals of Finance Minister J. L. Flisley for separate agreements surrendering the income, corporation and succession tax fields to the federal government for five years.

Premier Hart would not comment on details of the proposal other than to say that at first glance the new offer does not appear as favorable as some made earlier.

Glimpse Expansion In Air Travel Here

Victorians who waited at Patricia Bay for the arrival of a big Lancastrian Friday had a glimpse of things to come in the line of air transit here. Circling overhead, the Lancastrian waited for a signal to come down as ground officials called the swift arrival and departure of two other passenger craft. First C.P.A.'s regular plane from Vancouver, left above, came in. Five more minutes brought T.C.A.'s trans-Canada flight, from which passengers are shown leaving the mainliner, right. Within a few more minutes both craft had again loaded and taken off for the mainland. Then the four motored Lancastrian from Britain landed.

Safe After Ordeal, Men Claim Ships Ignored Boat's Signals Of Distress

Three tired men and a boy, thankful to be ashore safely from their 20-foot inboard motor boat in which they drifted in the Juan de Fuca Strait for 45 hours, were resentful today at the lack of attention paid their distressed craft by three vessels which passed within a short distance of them and failed to answer their signals for help.

Missing in their boat since Wednesday evening, Harold Phillips, 29, Allan Little, 26, Victoria, and George Hutcheson, 23, and David Wardell, 14, Happy Valley, reached Becher Bay and safety late Friday afternoon. They had been the object of an intensive search by B.C. Police local craft, the U.S. Coast Guard and the R.C.A.F. air-sea rescue service.

Phillips said today he and his companions went to Taylor Beach, Metochin, intending to work on the engine of their newly-acquired, motorboat and, if possible, put in a few hours fishing before returning home to Happy Valley.

Having got the engine running satisfactorily, Phillips said, the four went fishing. They were in the inside passage of Race Rocks and had no intention of going further out.

ANCHORED BOAT

Later in the evening, they returned to Taylor Beach and anchored the boat. However, a wind had blown up and they considered it unsafe to attempt to make shore in the raft ketch for the anchorage for the purpose.

If it had not been for young David, Phillips said, they would have stayed aboard overnight, but because of his youth they believed the people at home would be worried about him, so determined to run the boat to the shore.

"That was when we got into trouble," Phillips said. The motor only sputtered a few times and then failed. Soon they were about 200 yards off shore and in deep water. In an attempt to drop anchor again, they took their two fishing lines and made an extra length of line for the anchor. However, the two fishing lines parted.

"That night we drifted out as far as Albert Head. The wind was offshore," Phillips said. They stripped part of the cabin to make paddles. "We paddled for about four hours until we were tired and realized it was no use. Then we rested. By morning we were out towards Race Rocks."

"Two tugs passed us on Thursday about noon. They were on the shore side of us. We howled, whistled and waved. They never bothered with us at all. They were only about a quarter of a mile away from us."

TANKER PASSED

About Thursday noon, a tanker passed the small craft which was half-way between Port Angeles and Victoria at that time. "We hollered and he hollered back," Phillips said. "He knew we were in trouble, but he didn't stop. I think it was a Norwegian tanker. We were shipping water at the time."

The boat drifted up the strait as far as Otter Point where they tried to make shore again. At the time huge rollers were pitching and tossing the boat. "We tore canvas off the deck and made a sail of it," Phillips continued. "We tried to sail back with the wind, but we went back past Race Rocks again."

They slept Thursday night, and on Friday morning they were again half-way between Port Angeles and Victoria. As they neared Port Angeles they decided to try to make shore again but the heavy tide prevented them. "A pleasure boat from Seattle came out and asked us if they could do anything for us and we asked them for gas. They gave us four gallons of gas, some tins of tomatoes, peanut butter and some buns, and were glad to get it. They didn't carry any water."

WATER IN ENGINE

"As the engine was all right and we only needed gas, we told him we would be all right and to go on. It took us about four hours to get the engine started. It had got salt water in it while we were drifting around."

After getting the engine started they made their way to Becher Bay where Mrs. Flora Wright took them to her home and fed them and gave them an opportunity to get warm again.

Phillips said they saw no sign of a plane until they reached Becher Bay. When they saw the aircraft, they waved. It dropped a message to them asking if they were the missing men. They signalled back they were.

Of young David's behaviour during the ordeal, Phillips said, "I've never seen a better kid in all my life. He never said anything at all. He was perfect. We weren't bothered by hunger during the two days. I don't think any of us mentioned food."

Hutcheson, a brother-in-law of Phillips, was critical of the way they had been ignored. "I think it should be brought to people's attention that when they do see people out in a boat waving at them like that, they should investigate."

"I think searchers should look further out than they do. The tide seems to run heavily in the centre of the straits. The closest we were ever to shore when we were drifting out there was about a mile offshore."

FLEW TO BECHER BAY

Cpl. L. Backler said today B.C. Police were first notified Friday afternoon the missing men had been found. W. Sylvester, operator of the B.C. Airlines, had offered use of a plane to B.C. Police. Cpl. Backler said, and when the U.S. Coast Guard notified the police, through the R.C.A.F., the men were safe, he, Sylvester, Sgt. C. Jacklin and Const. N. J. Fiander had flown to Becher Bay to confirm the report. They saw the boat anchored to a log boom on the west side of the bay and landed to make sure it was the boat. Mrs. Wright rowed out to the plane to inform the police the boat was the one in which the men had been missing and that she had the four up at her house.

Truman's Veto Probably Awaits C.P.A. Bill As Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate early today passed by a vote of 62 to 15 a bill reviving the Office of Price Administration, but the bill has been denounced as almost as many major price controls as it promised to restore.

Final passage came on the 13th day of O.P.A.'s lapse into a legal coma.

Apparently amended far beyond the bounds which would permit its acceptance by President Truman, the one-year extension measure was sent to the House of Representatives where it seemed likely to receive a quick push toward a Senate-House conference committee. There, administration leaders hope to rewrite it.

EFFORT AT REVIVAL

Rep. J. P. Wolcott of Michigan, top Republican of the banking committee, said an effort might be made to substitute for it the original extension bill President Truman vetoed June 29.

The new measure would revive the O.P.A. and restore price control ceilings as of June 30. It would reinstate rent controls, with the proviso that states take over in this field where they have adequate laws.

Price controls, however, would not be replaced on meat, poultry, eggs, butter, cheese, milk or other dairy products, cotton seeds, soybeans, grain, livestock or poultry feed, nor on any form of tobacco. Petroleum would have no ceilings as long as the supply meets domestic demands.

Reinstated were some of the provisions to which President Truman objected when he vetoed O.P.A. extender Bill No. 1 June 29.

New Steel Wage Offer Unlikely To Stop Strike

Byrnes Suggests Big 4 Talk After Peace Treaties

PARIS (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes of the United States today declared he wants another Foreign Ministers' council to take place immediately after the impending peace conference adopts the peace treaties.

His intention to urge another session prior to the United Nations' meeting in New York, tentatively set for Sept. 23, was disclosed at a press conference before he left by air for Washington.

Reviewing the council's work, Mr. Byrnes remarked that internationalization of Trieste would be a good experiment in international co-operation.

Meanwhile, indications that Russia and the Western Allies have reached a definite parting of the ways on the present administration and future of Germany were seen following Friday night's adjournment of the council with the ministers still in disagreement.

The ministers adjourned at 9:10 p.m. after a 28-day session which produced several compromises on vital issues—including the Adriatic port of Trieste. The 21-power peace conference will open here July 29.

On the question of Germany, the ministers failed to reach any major agreement, despite lengthy debates.

BIDAULT BACKS U.S.

Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia refused to support a United States plan for a central economic administration for Germany. This proposal was backed by Foreign Minister Bidault of France in a remarkable concession, when he agreed to go along with Mr. Byrnes if the coal-rich Saar Valley was not included.

Mr. Molotov asked further time to study the condition—endorsed by Britain and the United States—that the Saar be placed under French supervision.

The ministers also failed Friday night to reach any compromise on the Austrian peace question.

The ministers received from their deputies tentative drafts of treaties with Italy, Finland, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. The council agreed to several minor changes in the drafts, and then returned them with instructions to complete the documents by Wednesday night.

The treaties will be submitted as suggestions to the 21-power peace conference.

U.S. Colonel Held

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The United States Army announced today Col. Lester A. Webb of Macon, Ga., was held in Frankfurt in connection with an asserted attempt to smuggle $12,386 worth of gold bullion, Swiss coins and watches out of Switzerland.

HAMILTON (CP)—New wage proposals "well in advance" of the 10-cents-an-hour increase previously offered by Canadian steel companies have been received by the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.), it was learned today. The proposals are to be considered by the national committee of the union.

At the same time officials of the Steel Company of Canada here said they hoped to maintain 65 per cent of normal production during the strike called for Monday morning by the union.

Meanwhile some 3,200 of the 5,000 workers at the Steel Company plant have moved "bag and baggage" into the plant to stay until the pending strike is over, company officials said today.

The steelworkers announced Friday they would start their strike for wage and hour demands at 7 a.m. Monday.

Arrangement were made today to provide army-type bunk beds for the men, although most appeared content with a mattress thrown on the floor of an empty shed.

Refrigerator railway cars were shunted on sidings to preserve food for the men who stay in the plant. Today off-duty workers were entertained in one of the plant offices with movies.

Meanwhile Murray Cotterill, national publicity director of the union, said "Presence of strikebreakers in the plant will have no appreciable effect on the industry as a whole—the simple fact is that steel production will stop Monday."

SHUT DOWN STARTS

Various departments of the three great basic steel plants in Canada were being closed down today.

The strike, was called Friday by the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.), which claims a union membership of 14,000 in the basic producing plants of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation at Sydney, N.S., the Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault-St. Marie, Ont., and the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton.

The union demands a 40-hour work week with a minimum weekly wage of $33.60, which is estimated at an increase of 19½ cents an hour at Hamilton and the Sault, and 24½ cents at Sydney.

The walk-out of the steelworkers Monday will bring to around 50,000 the number of striking Canadian unionists. The others include 7,200 United Electrical Union members in Ontario, 11,000 United Rubber Workers' Union members in Ontario plants, 6,000 United Textile Workers' Union members in Ontario plants.

Shrinking Export Grain Stocks May Leave Great Lakes Ships Idle

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Shortages of grain stocks at the lakehead and in prairie elevators will force a tie-up of many Great Lakes ships here and at eastern inland ports, grain and shipping officials said today.

Latest government figures show 15,400,000 bushels of grain in lakehead elevators and only 13,000,000 in prairie elevators, apart from certain coarse grains like oats and barley.

Union workers in Ontario and Quebec, 5,000 United Auto Workers' Union members at Chatham and Windsor, Ont., and 2,500 miners of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in British Columbia.

CRITICIZES APPOINTMENT

The union's Canadian director, C. H. Millard, at Hamilton Friday night issued another blast against the federal government's action in appointing a steel controller as a move by the government to aid the steel companies. Millard said the order-in-council appointing a federal steel controller was "full of threats to the workers."

The order provided penalties of fines of $20 a day for employees refusing to carry out orders of the controller; a maximum fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for five years—or both—for interference with the controller or his three deputies; and a maximum of $500 fine or six months' imprisonment, or both, for interference with an employee or counselling to violate the order.

A union spokesman at Hamilton said the union took the position the government had no constitutional rights in peacetime to force labor, and if necessary it would fight the issue in the courts.

One railway official confirmed the statement of an eastern shipping man that it would be the first time in seven years that such a lay-up had been necessary. "We have been shipping everything to Europe lately; a tie-up seems inevitable," he said. Only 300 to 400 cars of grain are coming through from the west daily compared with a normal fall peak of 4,000 to 5,000. This time last year from 1,400 to 1,500 cars were arriving at the lakehead to keep a sizeable fleet busy.

An official of the Saskatchewan Pool Elevators said that as far as his company was concerned he expected a fairly brisk movement for a time. "We are being kept busy. We are receiving about 300 cars a day ourselves."

Jack The Ripper Crimes Recalled By Murders In Britain

LONDON (Reuter) — Britain's police continued efforts today to solve a series of murders of attractive girls and women — killings which have caused a startled people to recall the notorious "Jack the Ripper" methods of the late 19th century.

At least six women and two small girls were among the victims of what has been described as Britain's worst crime wave in history.

Scotland Yard now is concentrating its attention on the slaying of beautiful Doreen Marshall of the Women's Royal Naval Services, whose knife-slashed body was found last week-end near Bournemouth.

Miss Marshall, on vacation at the south coast holiday resort, is believed to have been lured on a moonlight walk along the shore by the murderer. Her throat and body were slashed under a cliff called "Lovers' Leap" during a midnight thunderstorm.

Police said Wednesday they were holding a man for the Marshall murder, but declined to name the suspect.

'Nickel' Cigars To Become 'Twofers'

MONTREAL (CP) — The nickel cigar, which even before the war became a six-center, is ready now to move into the "twofer" class — two for 15 cents. Other brands probably will move up accordingly, it was learned authoritatively today.

The reason, say these sources: Effective June 28 the government increased the cigar tax and changed the taxation system from a graduated method to an ad valorem tax, which now is 33 per cent. Higher labor, leaf tobacco and wrapping costs are said to have played a part in the increased price.

Cagneys Shoot Movie In Quebec Legislature

QUEBEC (CP) — A party of 60 actors and technicians arrived from the U.S. Friday to begin filming the main scenes for the forthcoming production "13 Madeleine Street."

Annabelle and James Cagney, to be starred in the film, are in the party, which will use the anti-chamber rooms of the Quebec Legislative Buildings as indoor studios.

More than 50 outside scenes will be filmed here and on the nearby Island of Orleans during the next two weeks. The film will be completed in Hollywood.

500-Pound Turtle Lays 100 Eggs As It Sheds Copious Tears

WASHINGTON (CP) — Thomas A. Stone, councillor of the Canadian Embassy here, experienced something of a "little outside" the diplomatic routine the other night when he stood on a moonlit South Carolina beach and watched a barnacle, 500-pound turtle from the Gulf Stream lay 100 eggs in the sand, all the while shedding copious tears like the Mock Turtle of Alice in Wonderland.

Mr. Stone had heard the Carolina legend that if one was alert on a moonlight night in June, one might catch one of these ageless monsters laying its eggs.

Friends arranged a picnic for him on Bulls Island, about 18 miles from Charleston. When the moon was high the party walked about four miles along the beach to its most unfrequented stretches.

They began to see the deep furrows made by turtles that had laid their eggs and left but finally they found a one-way track leading away from the surf.

FLASHLIGHTS THERE — About 200 yards inland they came upon a sad-visaged turtle about the size of an office desk, already depositing eggs in a shallow excavation. It's only apparent reaction to the curious group and their flashlights was to weep a flood of tears, until it had laid about 100 eggs the size of ping-pong balls, and laboriously covered them with sand.

It then headed back to the sea. "Its flippers are not made for moving its heavy body on land," Mr. Stone said, "and it barely made the water. It would move a few feet and then take long gasping breathing spells before it would go on again."

"But when it got afloat it was right at home. Its flippers went into action like pistons and it swam straight and fast out to sea, traveling down the path of the moon and heading for its playground far out in the Gulf Stream."

WHITETAILS ARE MOST COMMON DEER ON CONTINENT

Of all the deer on this continent, the ones with the widest range are the whitetails. They have been found in every American state. Canada has them from Nova Scotia westward to the eastern edge of British Columbia.

Whitetails are rare in California and never are seen nowadays in most parts of the plains. Also known as "Virginia deer," these animals like to roam through woodlands which have open spaces here and there. A few years ago an official estimate gave the number of whitetails as 7,000,000.

Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have many of them, and they are common in Maine, northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan, Louisiana, Florida and several other southern states have large numbers.

A whitetail fawn weighs only four or five pounds at birth. People seldom see the newborn deer because the mother keeps them as far as possible from trails through the forest. The "hiding" goes on until the fawns are at least four weeks old. The food of these deer is made up chiefly of twigs, leaves, plant stems, grass, moss, acorns and beechnuts. Sometimes they wade into the water and feed on water lilies.

A North Carolina man reports that the deer in his park eat Indian meal, and are "fond of sweet potatoes."

Deers are plant-eaters, but it has been claimed that they sometimes eat small fish. One observer in Maine wrote:

"At Allekash lake in Maine, a doe hung around camp until she was fairly tame. One of my companions came in with a dozen small trout in his canoe. He drew the canoe up on the bank, and went to his tent. He came out just in time to see that doe take the last of his catch. Another man had a like experience at the same lake."

From time to time whitetails have been seen to kill (but not to eat) rattlesnakes. Lowering his horns, a stag may let the snake strike them. Then, with hooks together, he jumps on the snake and crushes it.

Besides the Virginia whitetails, there are small deer known as "Arizona whitetails." These also have the name of "dwarf deer" and "cactus fawns." They are found in parts of Arizona and New Mexico. A full-grown deer of this kind weighs only from 40 to 80 pounds.

Two R.C.A.F. Members Escape Ontario Jail

WINNIPEG (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported here today that two members of the R.C.A.F. arrested at Dryden, Ont., 190 miles east of here, Wednesday on suspicion of possession of a stolen automobile, escaped from jail there Friday night.

The two were John C. Deguire, 18, of Montreal and Raymond D. Marsh, 18, of Vancouver. The automobile which they were driving had been stolen in Portage La Prairie, Man., police said.

Similar stoppage was scheduled at Portland. A union mass meeting was called here for Monday morning.

Tourist Centres Of Canada Greet Big Increase In Trade

By Canadian Press
Canada's tourist industry—released from wartime restrictions—is experiencing its greatest upsurge this year, with United States visitors swarming across the border in record numbers, despite cautious government predictions of overcrowded accommodations and lack of space, a Canadian Press survey reveals.

External considerations—such as the recently announced Canada-United States dollar parity—failed to affect the attitude of the average U.S. visitor to Canada. He came for rest, relaxation and a change of scenery. He came to see Canada and enjoy its traditional hospitality.

"We are having the heaviest influx of tourists ever experienced by Victoria and Vancouver Island. It is an all-time record," George I. Warren, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau commissioner, said. "All available hotel space in Victoria is filled. We have never seen so many foreign-licensed cars on our highways."

Vancouver reported its tourist traffic, estimated last year at between 600,000 and 700,000 persons, would reach at least 1,000,000 persons this year. All hotels were operating at capacity, with a great many U.S. visitors there for the races.

At Canada's Rocky Mountain resorts—famed Jasper, Lake Louise and Banff—the influx of visitors was heavy. The prairie provinces also had their share of the traffic.

Northwestern Ontario resorts reported no scarcity of reservations except in higher-priced hotels. Minaki Lodge, popular Canadian National Railways resort in the Kenora district, was booked for the season. There were considerable sponsored travel groups.

In Ottawa tourist officials reported they were not getting the visitors, though there was accommodation of every description. Traffic was not up to prewar scale there.

The situation in Montreal was best summed up by a hotel official who covered the whole field of tourist traffic with the remark, "It's heavy and that's no lie." Hotels, and tourist homes were filled and requests for reservations were coming in every day.

The influx of tourists into Nova Scotia was setting an all-time record, and tourist facilities were adequate.

More United States-tourists entered New Brunswick in the month of June from Calais, Me., than in any previous June.

Finance Minister Ilsley, who has previously acted as Prime Minister, will, at the same time, attend an Unrta conference at Geneva.

Mr. St. Laurent will also be acting Secretary of State for External Affairs. Defence Minister Abbot will be Acting Finance Minister and Veterans' Minister Mackenzie will act as House leader.

Health Minister Claxton's post will be temporarily held by Revenue Minister McCann.

Small Wage Earners Benefit Most From Australian Tax Reduction

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Concessions intended to bring relief from high wartime taxation rates to modest wage earners who make up 85 per cent of the taxable Australian population, were announced Friday by Prime Minister Chifley, national Treasurer.

Income tax cuts on a sliding scale of from 7 per cent of the previous rates on salaries upward of $15,000, to 40 per cent on the smallest income, were announced in a general financial statement to the House.

ELECTION IN SEPTEMBER

No budget will be presented to parliament until after the general election, due about the end of September, when the Labor government will seek a return to office.

In the case of small wage earners with dependents, exemptions were increased on income taxation, but taxes remain unchanged for social services taxation, which is collected on combination with the income tax rates. The social services tax, however, is based on a separate scale, equivalent to about 1 per cent of yearly earnings of $330 and increasing by a small fraction for higher incomes.

Under the new tax scales, a single man will be exempt from taxation on earnings up to $330 a year. He will start paying the social services tax at that figure and become eligible for income tax at $640.

This is how the new rates will affect a man with a wife and two children and earning $25 a week, said to be a fair average for an Australian worker who belongs to a labor union and whose earnings are fixed by industrial courts:

1. In 1943, when taxes were at their peak because of the war this worker had about $3 of his weekly $25 deducted at a source. In January this year when the first postwar reductions became effective, the amount dropped to roughly $2.50 weekly. And under the cuts announced Friday, the reduction comes down further to about $2, effective in September. He will get a rebate next year for the amount overpaid during July and August under the old scale.

EXEMPTIONS RAISED

2. Deductions under the social services tax start from what this man earns over $13.50 weekly. His income tax reductions start from his earnings over $23 weekly. Formerly the latter deductions started at about $21.50 weekly salary.

The worker continues to receive exemption for such items as union dues and insurance payments, and under another adjustment announced by Mr. Chifley, he will have greater benefits under the national old age pensions plan.

Income tax concessions also were made to persons receiving pension for disability and to widows receiving state pensions.

Vancouver Group Of Nudists Formed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A nudist group, known as the Van-Tanners, has been organized in Vancouver and, according to a spokesman, hopes soon to be incorporated into a society.

The spokesman reports that the group, now numbering about ten married couples and their children, hold meetings in the nude at secluded farms in the Fraser Valley. He states that no single persons are yet allowed to join the club.

"We're not sure of the attitude of the authorities or the general public," the spokesman declared. "In Edmonton the R.C.M.P. closed one of our clubs without a word of explanation. We've never had contact with authorities here."

The Van-Tanners spokesman says the club believes people have a right to sunbathe in the nude on their own property as much as they have a right to play tennis.

Urges Income Tax Exemptions Be Raised, Retail Tax Added

OTTAWA (CP)—A suggestion that income tax exemptions for single and married persons be raised to $1,500 and $3,000, respectively, and that the loss of revenue be made up through a 10-per cent retail tax was advanced in the Commons Friday by a Liberal member while appeals for government economies were heard from opposition benches.

Ludger Dionne, Lib., Beauce, Que., well-known Quebec businessman, urged imposition of the tax not only to replace the loss of revenue from income tax but also to protect the people against black market operations.

He suggested stamps be used to indicate the true value of articles to the consumer and prevent him from being charged more by the retailer. As an example, if a manufacturer made a pair of shoes that retailed for $5, he could place on them a 50-cent stamp. The consumer immediately would know the ceiling price for the shoes was $5 and would pay no more.

Mr. Dionne, who said Canada's whole taxation system was wrong, said people would gladly pay the 10-per cent retail tax if exemptions were raised to $1,500 and $3,000. Under the present tax system, working men and commercial firms could not get out of paying taxes either because they were deducted at the source or because of the system of bookkeeping. Other classes could and did evade tax payments.

The final report of the joint Parliamentary committee established to choose a Canadian flag was tabled. It recommends the Red Ensign with a golden maple leaf be adopted as Canada's flag. No immediate action was taken on the report.

Food Supplies Across Dominion Show Improvement, Board Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—Present supplies and future prospects for food across Canada have improved "greatly" in the last month, with indications that fruit and vegetable scarcities due to small 1945 yield soon will disappear, the Prices Board said today.

The board said its monthly national survey has indicated eatables from orchards, gardens and fields are coming on the market in increasing supplies.

New potatoes appeared in limited amounts on almost all Canadian markets, but sweet potatoes were scarce.

A wide range of imported vegetables and fruits such as apricots, plums, pears, peaches, watermelons and cantaloupes were available. Fruit juices, citrus fruits and nuts were generally plentiful. Apples from Australia lent zest to Ontario and Quebec menus and in British Columbia Alaska potatoes were imported for the first time.

British Columbia's strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries and cherries reached prairie points and eastward to Fort William, though suppliers were hindered by shortages in crates and hallowcks caused by the recent lumber strike in B.C.

Sugar met ration needs, though farmers claimed their canning allotment inadequate to prevent waste of wild and cultivated fruits.

Butter supplies across Canada also filled ration requirements with production increasing slightly except in New Brunswick. Saskatchewan and Manitoba had ample dairy products. From Calgary and southern Alberta, the Lakehead district of northwestern Ontario and New Brunswick came reports of canned milk scarcities, and British Columbia and Alberta, except the northern section were short on cheese, particularly cheddar.

British Columbia and the prairies, except Saskatchewan, had shortages of pork and pork products.

Live poultry marketings were on the increase and broilers and fryers were appearing on many markets.

Fresh fish was plentiful, with spotty shortages, principally in haddock and salmon. British Columbia had little processed fish.

The Vatican City state was named Feb. 11, 1929.

FRANCE'S NATIONAL FESTIVAL

FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE REStoration of what approximates political stability the people of France will celebrate Bastille Day tomorrow with comparatively light hearts. For them it has been a long and tortuous grind from the days of the "collapse," through the years of brutal Nazi occupation, and during recent months of unpredictable domestic complexities. Under a new Coalition government, however, and
as its freshly-elected Constituent Assembly
proceeds with the important business of drafting a second post-war constitution, the French public will doubtless feel like letting itself go as it marks the 157th anniversary
of the passing of a terror of another century. Not that the average citizen of the Republic is carefree about the testing days ahead. On the contrary, few with an intelligent concept of the signs and portents
will permit themselves to be lulled into a sense of false security by a transitory mood of jollification. But even the most humble celebrant tomorrow is entitled to look with more than a little hope into the future. Consider what Mr. Churchill said in the House of Commons on July 14, 1946, and contrast the prospect facing France then with the scene as this is written. Here are the Prime Minister's words:

"Let us think of the future. Today is the fourteenth of July, the national festival of France. A year ago in Paris I watched the statue of Joan of Arc being moved from the Champs Elysees to the French Republic. Who can foresee what the course of other years will bring? Faith is given to us, to help and comfort us when we stand in awe before the unfolding scroll of human destiny. And I proclaim my faith that some of us will live to see a fourteenth of July when a liberated France will once again rejoice in her greatness and in her glory,
and once again stand forward as the champion of the freedom and the rights of man. When the day dawns, as dawn it will, the soul of France will turn with comprehension and with kindness to those Frenchmen and Frenchwomen
wherever they may be, who in the darkest hour
did not despair of the Republic."

Those assuredly were prophetic words;
and it may be safe to say that Mr. Churchill himself, with the "glorious disaster" of Dunkirk fresh in his memory, little thought that France's liberation was but a trifle more than four years distant. For not only was Britain then the last remaining bastion of freedom in the Old World; the Prime Minister was remembering, too, that only 11 days earlier he had told the same assembly that "in addition to blockading
what is left of the German fleet and chasing the Italian fleet," the British Navy had had "imposed upon it the sad duty of putting effectually out of action for the duration of the war the capital ships of the French Navy"—a melancholy phase "in our relations with France," which has, "so far as we are concerned, come to an end." It was then that Mr. Churchill directed the eyes and minds of the members of the House of Commons to the future—now unfolding on another Bastille Day in the visible fulfilment of the vision which the great British statesman conjured up on that July day six years ago.

SOIL EROSION

A LITTLE PUBLICIZED CONFERENCE
of scientists held in Oxford, England, has been discussing the world problem of soil
erosion and its relation to human welfare.
If this conference had confined itself to the discovery of ways and means of preventing the use of the atomic bomb as a weapon of war, its conclusions might have received the attention they deserve. But soil erosion and its relation to behaviorism is not immediately apparent—until such a simple fact as the rise of 100,000,000 in India's population in 25 years, with no gain whatever in crops, is properly focussed with the problem of Indian progress. In that unhappy country great areas of tropical growth
have been reduced to deserts by soil erosion.
Anybody unacquainted with the facts might well ask what has the sacred cow in India
to do with soil erosion? The conference at Oxford has torn aside the trappings of religious practices and provided the answer.

In Canada and the United States soil erosion has a top priority among the scientists who devote their time to improving agricultural conditions. The practice of "mining" the soil has long been frowned
upon and farmers and gardeners everywhere are able to send samples of their soil
to government laboratories for analysis.
What crops should be encouraged and on which lines irrigation should be conducted,
if irrigation is available, are regarded as part of an agriculturist's education. It is that kind of education which the Economic and Security Council of the United Nations is anxious to apply to those areas of the world where famines and war are regarded as a natural means of keeping the population down, and where those who interfere with the ways of Nature are regarded as dispensers of evil and not of salvation. The conference at Oxford concludes that man can create abundance everywhere if he will but
make use of the scientific knowledge available.

EXPORTS REVEAL VITALITY

THE ECONOMIST WILL MAKE HIS
own analysis of the United Kingdom's
surging export achievements and her need to make further progress to overcome a visible adverse trade balance of $119,610,000
for the month of May. But to the layman
the report that the nation had, at the end of that month, pushed its deliveries to outside consumers 15 per cent above the level of 1938 will be taken as a concrete example of vitality. The improvement does not, by any means, indicate an early escape from the austerity living to which the people are committed, but it serves direct notice of their intention to work themselves up from the low ebb to which war had reduced them.

Notable in the May export total of $377-436,000, moreover, is an item of $19,935,000
covering relief and rehabilitation supplies to the liberated areas. These are non-commercial and represent part of the United Kingdom's contribution to U.N.R.R.A.

Of the export aggregate for May, vehicles
represented the highest financial percentage, surpassing machinery for the first time since the war. It is to be noted, however,
that the export of cotton and woolen goods
still lags, although the amount of linen sent to the United States shows a healthy gain
from the period of hostilities.

As a corollary, Britain's ability to purchase from outside sources increases with the volume of her export trade, but the latter has still far to advance before the standard of living can be restored.

PROCEDURE IN KOREA

AMERICAN OFFICIALS IN KOREA ARE
anxious to go ahead with the task of establishing the national independence of that state—as envisaged by the Three Power Conference in Moscow last December.
Apparently they have hitherto failed to obtain Russian co-operation, and a blank silence
has been the only result of their inquiries.
The joint commission came to an unhappy
end when the Soviet representatives withdrew into their northern sphere. Since then nothing has been done to help create "conditions for developing the country on democratic principles" as was agreed upon in the Russian capital.

The joint commission was to have established a provisional Korean government. Its recommendations were to have been "presented for the consideration of the U.S.S.R., China, the United Kingdom and the United States prior to final decision." With the participation of the proposed administration,
the joint commission was to "work out
measures for helping and assisting (trusteeship) the political, economic and social progress of the Korean people." So the Americans are determined to follow the "procedure"
laid down in the Moscow agreement and establish an advisory legislative council in their zone of Korea.

IS IT ADEQUATE?

NO ONE ACQUAINTED WITH THE DIPlomatic involved in a search for a small boat on the Strait of Juan de Fuca will be inclined to belittle the individual efforts
made to locate the missing craft which returned to its anchorage at Becher Bay yesterday afternoon. It is safe to assume that those who participated in the quest did their utmost to find the three men and one youth who were tossed in their 20-foot craft when they developed engine trouble. The question will arise, however, over the adequacy of the air-sea rescue service which was brought into use. Any facilities of this type are better than none; but the outcome of the search may well inspire an analysis of the service which is now in operation. If it is not complete enough to meet emergencies,
it would seem proper at this time to seek its enlargement. It is a matter which might be given greater study by Dominion authorities with a view to the establishment of a Canadian Coast Guard. All adventures such as those through which the four in the small craft passed may not end as happily.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

A BRIGHT COPPER SHEEN CATCHES
the sun where new power lines have been strung along the country road. Below,
where young growth has been cleared
away and the raw wounds of recently cut stumps thrust up stubbly, the aging silver of an old snake fence is revealed. It is
years since the fence could be seen, since
the screen of brush had grown between it and the highway, and more years since
some competent farmer split red cedar into the long rails which form it. Now it stands, still sturdy, a monument to the builder's workmanship.

They tell their own stories of different ages, the old silver of the fence and the new copper of the power lines. Over the latter will come the miracles of electricity, quick and clean cooking, bright light and the mixed blessings of radio that are the symbols of a switch-pressing age. From the farmhouse and summer resort they will banish the old ways of the snake fence day,
when light came softly but inadequately
from lamps with wicks that were trimmed
methodically, when music came from family instruments and voices, when opinions were formed from careful reading and the slow
exchange of ideas around the fire—and there will be a touch of nostalgia for the old era which is passing and will find few reminders when the snake fence disinte-rates in an age that has scant time for its repair.

Yet people seldom develop prejudice
against any minority group until it reveals aggressive intolerance.

Whatever the cause, you never hear of a
lynching or other racial violence in winter.
Maybe "hot blooded" really means something.

WHAT MR. BYRNES HAS ACHIEVED

TO APPRAISE what Mr. Byrnes has achieved in the Italian agreements we must remember the situation as it was last spring when the long, tedious negotiations
began. The question then was not the Italo-Yugoslav boundary and Trieste. It was the much greater question of the control of the Mediterranean: of a Soviet challenge to British supremacy.

The Italian treaty opened up the enormous, and ancient conflict between the Russian and the British empires. Mr. Molotov promptly laid claim to strategic points
within the prostrate Italian empire where Russia could most surely have established herself as a Mediterranean power. He asked not only that his vassal, Tito, should be sovereign in Trieste and at the head of the Adriatic but that the Soviet Union should be conceded footholds in the Aegean, in North Africa, and even in the Red Sea.

MR. BYRNES has not solved the Mediterranean problem. But he has separated it from the Italian and the Balkan peace treaties. He has narrowed the immediate issue—from one which involved the balance of power throughout the world—down to a relatively small border dispute between Italy
and Yugoslavia. Thus the making of peace treaties has been disentangled from the conflict of empires in the Mediterranean and
the Middle East.

Considering Russia's vital interest in the Mediterranean, that is no mean achievement.
In the perspective of world politics it would be unfair and untrue to accept the judgment
of the eminent critic who has already said that "Russia comes out best in the first settlement in Western Europe. . . . In Italy
she has pushed the United States and Britain
to recede from their positions on every important point than whether Russia was to place herself athwart the Mediterranean, and on that point it is Russia that has receded
from her original position. Whereas originally she sought to make the Italian peace treaty the vehicle of her claim to become a Mediterranean power, in the end she has agreed to an Italian treaty which leaves that claim unsatisfied.

THE ADVANTAGE which Mr. Byrnes has gained here is not, as some may think,
that Russia has been excluded from the Mediterranean. In the long run Russia cannot be excluded from the Mediterranean.
The real advantage he has gained is that Russia's entrance into the Mediterranean
has been delayed; time and the opportunity have, therefore, been won to prepare a situation, to devise and negotiate arrangements, which can satisfy Russia's just claim
in the Mediterranean without precipitating a conflict with Britain and without upsetting
the balance of power.

Mr. Byrnes's success is due, in the last analysis, to the decision to reinforce the United States Mediterranean fleet. By that decision Mr. Byrnes made plain in language that the Kremlin fully understands that the United States has a vital interest of its own
in the Mediterranean. This American act spoke louder than all the "tough" speeches.

ON THE NARROWER issue of Trieste and the Yugoslav frontier, the worst that can be said of the agreement is that the compromise on Trieste was hastily imvised and crudely planned. A compromise
of this kind was nevertheless unavoidable.
It was impossible, no matter how much the Roman mobs may insult the Allies, to award Trieste outright to an Italy which was not only disarmed but from which the British-American forces had been evacuated. Trieste had not become Yugoslav. But it could be preserved from Tito's sovereignty only by an arrangement which permitted and obligated military forces, neither Italian nor Yugoslav,
to remain in the area after peace had been made with Italy. This is the crux of the decision to "internationalize" the area.

It was known before the second meeting
of the ministers in Paris that an international solution alone was possible, and that such a solution was most probable. It may fairly be asked, therefore, why the United States did not have ready a broader and better plan than the one reluctantly accepted. This might have resulted in the adoption of a better plan.

IN FIXING THESE frontiers, Mr. Byrnes has found what, of course, he knew when he began: that in Central and Eastern Europe there are at least half a dozen
borderlands where no generally acceptable
boundary can be drawn. Not a single state in that part of Europe can be made to include all the people of the same nationality and no people of any other nationality. The perfect ethnic frontier cannot be drawn between Italy and Yugoslavia, between Italy
and Australia, between Hungary and Romania, between Poland and Russia, between Poland and Germany.

Mr. Byrnes has, therefore, let it be known that he would consider a provision in the treaties by which frontiers might peaceably be revised. He has, however, been aware of the dangers and difficulties. The trouble,
as he himself says, with such arrangements
is that they put a premium on nationalist agitation: if a method is set up by which frontiers can be changed, there will be politicians who spend their lives clamoring for
new frontiers.

IT WOULD be better, it seems to me, for the United States to take its stand on the conclusion that the perfect ethnic frontier
does not exist, and then to insist on the principle that a good state is one in which all men have equal rights rather than the same ethnic origin. This is the American principle. It is indeed the civilized principle —applied most successfully in Europe by the Swiss.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press World Affairs
Analyst

The breakdown of Chinese distribution of United Nations Relief
and Rehabilitation Administration
food, resulting in Director-General LaGuardia ordering all
but emergency supplies withheld
from China, appears to have been due to grave mishandling. It is a tragedy in view of the terrible famine conditions in that stricken country.

Unrra staff members in China
have accused President Chiang Kai-shek's government of failing to get materials to millions in the interior, and of using relief goods for political ends. It is said supplies also are reaching the black market.

T. F. Tsiang, head of the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (C.N.R.R.A.), in appealing to Mr. La-Guardia to rescind the order cutting relief, admitted to newspapermen that "local interference
by both sides"—Chinese Nationalists and Chinese Communists—
had prevented supplies from reaching assigned areas. This contravened orders by both President Chiang and the Communist commanders, he said.

I have before me a letter from a well-informed American resident of China which deals with what is known as "squeeze" in China. "Squeeze" is the equivalent of "honest graft." That's what the butler gets when custom permits him to help himself
to his lordship's whisky and port. "Squeeze" is a prerogative
which is widely condoned in the Orient by tradition.

The letter says that "squeeze"
is an accepted fact in every negotiation, even with the handling of Unrra supplies by the Chinese.

"It would be interesting," continues the writer, "to know what
a small percentage of the relief supplies ever reaches the war devastated areas in China, for every person handling them gets his
"squeeze" and the starving people are so far inland that many workers handle the supplies."
My informant, writing June 5,
mentions having seen supplies
from original Unrra shipments
on sale in the Shanghai black market.

Children's Swim Classes in Full Swing

There will be little danger of this group of young lads becoming drowning casualties as they take the seven-week swimming course offered by the City Parks Department under its supervised playground scheme. Shown above is part of the record enrollment of under-teen-age boys who attended the class Friday morning at Crystal Garden. Fred Ellison, swimming instructor, right, gives the boys the rudiments of swimming. Approximately 250 boys are attending the classes, held every Friday morning. Girls' classes are Tuesdays and close to 200 girls turn out.

What Should M.P.'s Rely On? Own Judgment, Elector's Opinion

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO — Canadians have a definite interest in the actions of their elected representatives in Parliament. Fully 95 per cent of an exact cross-section of the adult public expressed a clear opinion to Gallup Poll reporters in the latest Institute survey on the question:

"Which of these three things do you think a member of Parliament should rely on most when he votes on a national problem:

a. The Opinions of the people from his own riding, who elected him, OR

b. The Opinions of the country as a whole, OR

c. His own judgment?"

Only 20 per cent would leave members of Parliament to the dictates of their own judgment, the Institute found:

Should Rely on— a. The opinions of the people from his own riding, who elected him, 35 per cent; b. The opinions of the country as a whole, 40 per cent;

c. His own judgment, 20 per cent; undecided, 5 per cent.

RELY ON OWN JUDGMENT

But the greater proportion of the Canadian electorate believe that M.P.'s actually do rely mainly on their own judgment.

Following the above question in the latest Gallup Poll, the same groups were asked:

"Which one do you think members of Parliament do rely on most?" a. The opinions of the people from their own riding, OR; b. The opinions of the country as a whole, OR; c. Their own judgment; d. Other.

On this question, there is more varied opinion throughout Canada: Think M.P.'s rely on— a. The opinions of the people from their own riding 26 per cent; b. The opinions of the country as a whole, 12 per cent; c. Their own judgment, 36 per cent; d. Other, 12 per cent; undecided 14 per cent.

There are only minor provincial differences in the above division of the opinion, the Institute found. The farm population was slightly stronger in the view that M.P.'s rely on their own judgment, while college-educated voters were in higher proportion of the opinion that M.P.'s are swayed largely by the people of their own ridings.

Of special note are the opinions of the 12 per cent, who said M.P.'s are motivated by "Other" influences. In all areas these "Other" factors most frequently mentioned were "party politics" and "their (the members') own interests."

Disclosing similar views were the voters who attributed the action of members to "party leaders' opinion." Less frequent mention was made of "pressure groups."

Astute insight as well as a touch of wit was revealed by those who said the M.P. is influenced mainly by "his wife."

Mayor George Urnes Co-operative Spirit

Many of our present problems will disappear when our present lack of tolerance is banished, Mayor Percy E. George told the Lions Club luncheon in Empress Hotel, Friday.

"Let's be friends," was the theme of Mayor George's talk, and he urged that the hospitality of all Victorians to visitors be sincere.

"We must sell the West to the East, Victoria is fast gaining a name for her hospitality. It is the smile and warm, friendly handshake that counts," he said, adding that delegates from Quebec at the recent mayors' convention in Vancouver, were "amazed at the beauties of the West."

Mayor George called for an "atmosphere of co-operation," and praised the Lions Club for its community work, mentioning particularly the recent Tin Lizzie races.

Youngsters Display Pets At City Playgrounds

A wide variety of pets were proudly turned out for the pet shows at the four playgrounds, supervised by the Parks Board, Friday. The group of youngsters, above, presented pets for competition at Central Park. Other parades were held at Beacon Hill, James Bay and Stadacona Park where cats, rabbits, turtles, goldfish, chickens and pigeons were in the majority. Most original pets brought by one child were bees, but the cats and rabbits won most of the prizes. Next Friday dog shows will be held at the playgrounds.

MISSING BOYS RETURN SAFELY

Fear for the safety of three boys on a camping trip were put at ease when the lads limped home. One had cut his foot, but his pals had bandaged and dressed it with Zam-Buk carried in a First-Aid Kit. "I'm sure glad I took my First-Aid Kit with Zam-Buk Ointment along," one freckle-faced lad declared. Because this antiseptic, herbal ointment is so safe to use, many parents teach their children to apply Zam-Buk quickly in case of cuts, burns, blisters, sprains. Keep Zam-Buk in your medicine chest always. Remember—a little foresight may save a lot of trouble. ZAM-BUK, the healing antiseptic ointment with dozens of home uses, including the relief of tired, aching feet and sore red hands, is sold by all druggists.

Centres Suggested For Canning Surplus Fruit And Vegetables

Victoria families can share with the world's hungry by preserving the surplus from their own gardens.

The Red Cross Overseas Relief Committee is prepared to operate several canning centres in the city where vegetables and fruit may be canned. This will enable families to preserve fruit and vegetables for their own winter needs, saving expense and releasing commercially canned goods for shipment overseas.

It is proposed to hold morning and evening sessions to can food now so abundant for the coming winter season. This would include fish, vegetables and fruit, the latter with and without sugar.

It is hoped to work out arrangements for sharing transportation, collecting bottles and exchanging produce. The Emergency Food Committee will welcome suggestions. The whole scheme is dependent on a sufficient number of persons indicating a desire to use the facilities of the centres.

Those interested should phone G-8713 or write Room 515, Belmont Building, immediately.

Ration Coupons
Ration coupons valid Monday are: Butter, Nos. R10 to R14; meat, Nos. M40 to M45, and sugar, Nos. S1 to S21.

Irish Linen Is News

That wonderful, crisp-textured, fine-woven Irish linen that hasn't been imported all during the war is back in the fashion news. And better still it's back in the love-latest summer dresses ever. This is one of them, designed especially to fill every woman's need for something that's casual enough to wear anywhere — and soft and feminine enough for those occasions when a tailored dress would be too severe.

(Saccharin may be substituted for sugar.)
Plain beef bouillon is a low-calory food which may be used as a filler at any time, if eaten without crackers or bread.
Vegetables and fruits can be eaten as salads with vinegar or mineral oil dressing. If the oil is used excessively, however, it has a tendency to dissolve the fat soluble vitamins in the diet, thus producing a state of deficiency.
Vegetables should be served without cream sauce or butter. Pasteurized buttermilk may be used instead of pasteurized skim sweet milk. Sugar-free gelatin can be purchased, and whole wheat bread is preferable to white or rye bread.

EXERCISE NO REDUCER
Noon and evening diet meals consist of lean meat, fish, cheese, or eggs, vegetables, fruit, skim milk, and black coffee or tea. As all reducing diets are low in vitamins, supplements are advised. These diets also lack calcium, which should be added.
Weight reduction does not take place at a steady pace, for water is stored as the fat leaves the body, and sudden release of this water results in excessive loss in a short period. Daily weighing is not recommended; every two weeks is often enough.
Exercise as a means of weight reduction usually fails, because of its stimulating effect upon the appetite, and because it may be harmful to those of sedentary habits.

Clubwomen
Special Guests—Mrs. A. H. C. Phillips, Mrs. J. L. Gates and Mrs. F. E. Dowdall were special guests at the meeting of Royal Roads Chapter, I.O.O.F. Mrs. Gates led in a round table discussion of the report of the national chapter meeting in Winnipeg. There were 41 garments turned in for the Save the Children campaign.

Kept Color-Clear—If you'll speed your print scarves from the soap suds to the ironing board, you can wash these bright beauties yourself and take no chances on colors running riot. If you're not sure of the color-fastness of the scarf, its journey from the washbowl to the final resting place in bureau drawer should take only seven minutes at most. Besides, use lukewarm suds for washing. After rinsing, roll scarf in towel to blot up excess moisture. Iron at once.

Dorothy Dix

PERQUISITES OF A WOLF
The main thing that keeps the bobby-soxers guessing is just what it takes to make a girl popular with boys. They are too young and inexperienced to know the answer, so they worry their pretty heads over whether to run after Tom, Dick and Harry, or run away from them; whether to play coy, or do the courting; whether to be clinging vines, or sturdy oaks.

Well, at long last, the problem has been solved. A miracle has happened. The wolves have spoken and told what they like in girls, and what they expect of them. A group of these altruists have furnished me with the following data. They say:

- "We don't mind girls having freckles. Why the heck do they hide them?"
- "We don't object to shiny noses, but we do object to girls dragging out their powder puffs every five minutes."
- "Deliver us from wilted hair ribbons. We like flowers in their hair and maybe a speck of perfume. Observe that we said a speck, not a gallon."
- "We like the gals to go easy on the make-up and not look like painted clowns."
- "Also, we like them to be easy on our pocketbooks."
- "Show us a girl with gleaming hair, a fresh clean face and a figure that is right for sweaters and skirts and she will be number one on our lists."

BEAUTY NOT LISTED
So there you are, sweeties, and not making up your faces in public and combing dandruff into your sodas is all that it takes to make you popular with the boys. I don't see why any one of you shouldn't have the pack following you. I am astonished at their moderation, for they missed so many good bets.

For instance, they didn't even mention beauty, yet good looks have been rated as a girl's chief asset from time immemorial. That scores one for the cuties, for it will certainly be much easier for a girl to make a hit with the lads if she doesn't have to be also Miss America to do it.

Another attribute upon which the boys seem to put no stress is the girl's disposition. Apparently he doesn't care whether she is so sweet and gentle that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth, or whether she has a temper, hung on a hair-trigger that goes off if it is jostled. Maybe she is one of the grab-em girls, who takes the best of everything for herself, or she may be a jealous jade who doesn't allow any rivals near the throne. You would think that any boy would pass up a girl who had to be continually appeased and with whom he had to watch his step, but it would seem that being hard to get along with doesn't keep a girl from having dates.

65 Boys To Attend First Y.M.C.A. Camp At Glinz Lake

Sixty-five boys in the age-group of 10 to 12, equipped with the necessary personal effects for a camping period, will leave the city next Friday at noon to enjoy 10 days in the outdoors at the Victoria Y.M.C.A.'s Camp Thunderbird, on the shores of beautiful Glinz Lake nestled in the Sooke Hills.

Peter Spence, camp director and secretary of the "Y" boys' work department, reports that the demand for admission to the first camp was so great that late applications had to be turned down. However, these applicants will be able to attend the second camping session, for boys aged 13 to 17 from July 31 to August 9. There are still a few vacancies for the final camp period.

During the first camp session coach Archie McKinnon and his flying "Y" Swimming Club members will be at the camp preparing for the big Kelowna meet in August. They will also assist in teaching the under-teen-agers the fundamentals of swimming. Assisting Mr. Spence at the camp will be Dr. Rundle, a retired dentist from Moosejaw, and James Taylor. This year there will be a leader for every tent group. An experienced woman cook has been secured to satisfy sharpened appetites induced by the open-air life.

In addition to the regular program there will be a number of craft classes. Other items on the daily schedule are: Rising time, 7:30 in the morning; chapel service, hikes, sports events, learn-to-swim periods, splash parties, evening games and campfire periods. Light-out will be at 9:45 each night.

The camp director reports that local service clubs have again come forward with financial assistance to enable some boys to attend the camp.

A shortage of lumber this year spoiled the camp committee's plans to build 10 huts and an auditorium capable of seating 250 at the camp. However, finances for the project are on hand and it is hoped to complete the building in time for next year's camping dates.

First-camp boys will leave Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot at 1:30 in the afternoon of July 19. Final instructions to the campers are in the mail. Instruction for the later group will follow.

A slight drop in the number of vacancies for men, from 623 last week to 547 this week, was shown in figures released by C. A. Mudge, manager of the National Employment Service here, Friday.

Top requirement is still unskilled labor with 224 vacancies listed. Jobs for women numbered 303, compared with 308 a week ago. Following are the openings:

Men: Clerical, 26; sales, 41; service, 30; logging, 61; construction, 100; unskilled labor, 224; skilled and semi-skilled, 65.

Women: Clerical, 26; sales, 19; service workers, 127; domestic, 40; laundry and dry cleaners, 38; unskilled, 55.

Ottawa Citizen Says Printers Join Union

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ottawa Citizen said today in a newspaper story that 30 of its composing room employees have joined the Canadian National Printing Trades Union, an affiliate of the Canadian Federation of Labor.

Forty-five former members of the Citizen composing room who staged a work stoppage last May 30 and who subsequently were replaced were members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.).

"Action of the Citizen composing room employees in joining the C.N.P.T.U. now places the mechanical staff on the newspaper on a 100 per cent closed shop basis," the story said.

The I.T.U. work stoppage was called by union officials in newspapers of the Southern Company Ltd. in Ottawa, Hamilton, Edmonton and Vancouver in an effort to obtain similar agreements with the company in all composing rooms of the Southern group.

Civilian Version Of Giant Bomber

After swerving low over Victoria's business and residential districts at 3.30 Friday, this big Lancastrian came down at Patricia Bay airport.

War-time pilots who flew the mighty bombers over Berlin and other Nazi targets will recognize the instrument panel and note few changes in the cockpit.

Maurice McGregor, who used to thrill Victorians when he stunted in an eight-cylinder Eagle Rock plane at the old Lane-downe field 15 years ago, swooped down at Patricia Bay Friday afternoon in a 30-ton trans-Atlantic flyer.

The plane was a four-engine Lancastrian with a wing-span of 102 feet, capable of a top speed of 300 miles an hour—the first of its type ever brought here. It was the same aircraft that made the first T.C.A. flight from Scotland to Vancouver in 28 hours arriving in the mainland city Wednesday in connection with "aviation day" in the Diamond Jubilee celebrations there.

Brought from Vancouver on a T.C.A. demonstration flight, the big Lancastrian carried a group of business and newsmen. Before landing at Patricia Bay it circled Victoria twice swooping low over the city and residential areas.

GRACEFUL LANDING

Out at Patricia Bay a large group of Victorians watched as the silver airship, converted from a wartime bomber to fly passengers, on the Atlantic run, came to a graceful landing and taxied up to the T.C.A. offices.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McGregor, 2126 Granite Street, Capt. McGregor, operations manager, T.C.A. trans-Atlantic service, told how T.C.A. engineers had redesigned the nose and tail of the Lancastrian, formerly used in heavy bombing raids, for civilian flying. He said the Lancastrians on trans-Atlantic flights were now carrying 10 passengers and a crew of five. Conversion for civilian flying was carried out at the Avro Works in Toronto.

"Put in 3,000 gallons of gas," he said, "and you can go almost anywhere in the world."

He explained the Lancastrian was capable of flight from Great Britain to Winnipeg without refueling. On the great circle route it could go as far as Calgary or Edmonton from the United Kingdom without taking on more fuel.

T.C.A., he said, was striving desperately at the present time to catch up on civilian flying needs with 1,000 persons on the waiting lists both to and from the United Kingdom.

He expected the new DC-4's, now going into production in the east for T.C.A. would be on the trans-Atlantic run by late fall. They carry 38 passengers.

Future plans of T.C.A. Capt. McGregor said, called for passenger flights to South America and on Pacific routes. He stressed that demands for increased service on the Atlantic route and in Canada would be met before carrying out further expansion.

After a half-hour stop here the plane again took off for Vancouver, en route to Montreal.

With McGregor on the flight to Victoria were Capt. George Lothian, who has made 130 Atlantic flights, First Officer Jack Wright, Radio Officer Bill Lucas, Navigator P. Powell, and Purser Stewart Douglas Miller.

Supreme Loyalty To God

Scripture: Exodus 20:3-6; Joshua 24:16, 22-24; Luke 14:25-27.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Years ago, traveling in Colorado, I had a casual and very friendly meeting with a fellow-traveler, an Episcopalian minister. We talked about various things, and in the course of our conversation he spoke of the adherents of what he called "easy religions."

When he referred to specifically to Methodists, I was both surprised and amused, for I had grown up in a very strict Methodist home in which we didn't dance, play cards, attend theatres, or do a hundred other things that even Methodists do today. And we were inclined to think of our Episcopalian friends and neighbors, who did most of these things, as members of one of the "easy religions," though we hadn't used the phrase.

It goes to show how little we understand one another, and how much there is in the point of view. There are, of course, easy-going people in all denominations, just as in all denominations there are earnest souls whose religion is the supreme and dominating thing in their lives.

He bade them in a very dark hour to be of good cheer. He spoke of rich rewards of service in the Kingdom of Heaven. But He always spoke of sacrifice, of losing and leaving certain things which in the eyes of the world were greatly to be desired. In contrast, Jesus spoke of the Kingdom as a pearl of great price, which one should be willing to sell everything to buy.

The late C. Sylvester Horne, famous minister of Whitefield's Tabernacle, in London, England, once wrote a book under the title, "The Life That Is Easy." It was the Christian life of which he was writing, but he was writing of it from the standpoint of the Christian who had accepted the full obligations of the Christian way and the disciplines of the Christian life. The ease that he wrote of was the ease of mastery, through long and intimate fellowship with the Master.

The distinctive thing about the religion of the Jews, from early times, was the insistence upon the supreme demands of a righteous God. Clear and plain was the commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." Holiness was the law of life, and there was no part of life free from the presence of God and the obligation to serve Him.

In this, Jesus fulfilled the law and the prophets. He gave His followers no formal tasks and set up no artificial observances or duties. He demanded no allegiance to Himself, except in the same way that He gave allegiance to the Father. But He insisted upon loyalty to the Truth.

There is no half-way place in Christianity, and that is why so many professing Christians never find either ease or happiness in their religion. It is in the lives of those who have given themselves fully to Christ that the power, beauty, and true satisfaction of the Christian way are found and revealed.

Whittaker Offered Pro Soccer Contract

VANCOUVER (CP) — Freddy Whittaker, outstanding centre-forward of the Vancouver North Shore Reds in the Coast Football League, has been offered a contract to play with Notts County, English first division club, it was learned Friday.

Whittaker, with 50 goals in 21 games so far this season, was interviewed by Arthur W. Stollery, manager of the Notts County Club who flew to Canada to obtain the Vancouver player's services. Whittaker told Stollery that he was planning on being married shortly and would go to Britain if arrangements could be made to have his fiancée accompany him.

Bulla Golf Leader After Blistering 64

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Longball hitter Johnny Bulla of Chicago, twice runner-up in the British Open, swept into the lead of the $20,000 Victory Bond International Golf Tournament Friday with a course record eight-under-par 64 for a 36-hole total of 132.

His 10-under-par total gave him a six-stroke edge over his nearest competitors.

Bulla grabbed the lead from a fellow Chicagoan, veteran Jimmy Hines, who tied the course record of 66 Thursday but fell to 34-38-72 yesterday for a 138 total that deadlocked him with four other players.

"I'm Hungry for Wire!"
—the kind of wire that enables me to hop from the electric power mains and across the street to go to work for you in your home or factory.
Right now, "weatherproof" wire is as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth" and I don't know when there will be any more. I'm doing everything I can to get fresh supplies.
So, I want to warn you that if you are planning any alterations to the equipment in your home or factory, or if you have a new house that is about ready to be hooked up, give me all the warning you can about your plans and the probable date you will require my services, and I'll do all I can to accommodate you.
